

Coherus BioSciences, Inc.
CCPA Limited Privacy Notice

Collection of personal information from employees, job applicants, and consultants:

In the past twelve (12) months from the date this CCPA Privacy Notice was last reviewed, Coherus may have collected personal information from employees, job applicants, and consultants from the following sources: (1) directly from the individual, and (2) background checks. Coherus may have collected the following categories of personal information: (1) identifiers, including names, addresses, and social security numbers, (2) professional information, including employment history, experience, references, and salary expectations, and/or (3) educational information, including grades, performance, and degrees earned.

Coherus may use such information for the purposes disclosed in our Privacy Policy at <https://www.coherus.com/privacy-policy/>, and the purposes described below, or as otherwise permitted or required by applicable law or as disclosed to employees, job applicants, and/or consultants at the time of collection:

- Employees: To evaluate employment and consulting opportunities; to pursue company's business operations; to comply with government reporting and disclosure requirements; to comply with regulatory approval requirements; to manage payroll, healthcare, retirement and other benefits.
- Job Applicants: To evaluate employment and consulting opportunities; to pursue company's business operations; to comply with government reporting and disclosure requirements.
- Consultants: To evaluate consulting opportunities; to pursue company's business operations; to comply with government reporting and disclosure requirements; to comply with regulatory approval requirements; to manage payroll and other benefits as applicable.

Coherus does not sell employee, job applicant, and/or consultant personal information to third parties. Coherus may share employee and/or consultant personal information with third parties for purposes of regulatory approval. Coherus may share job applicant personal information with third-party background check vendors.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding this CCPA Privacy Notice, please contact privacy@coherus.com.

Last updated: August 1, 2021